To start, get your group together.

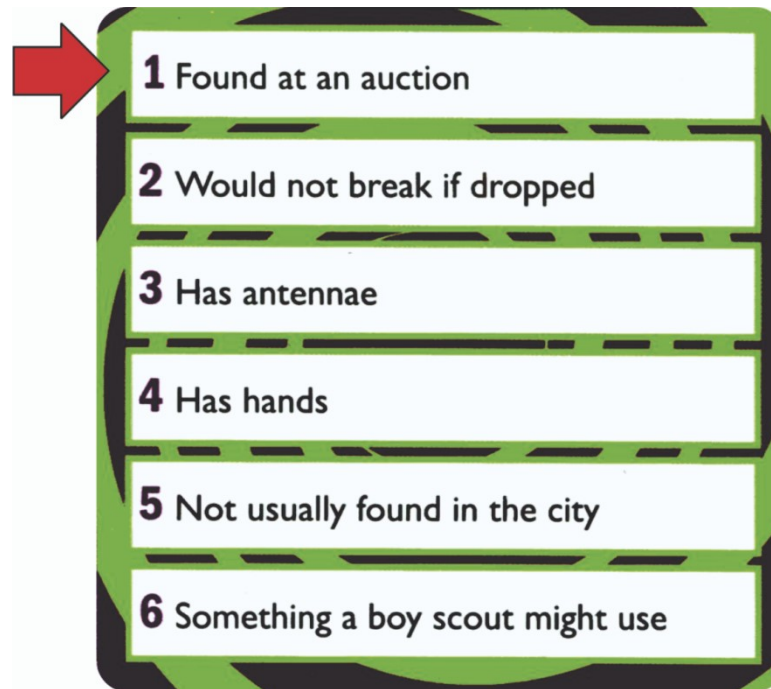

Randomly place all 12 picture tiles down on the table.

Turn on the count-down timer and place it within easy reach. When the red button is pressed, the timer will start to beep and display a 9. After 3 seconds it will continue counting down to zero until the button is pressed again.

A starting player is chosen. This player will search for pictures first. A search card is drawn and the top search is read aloud.
For example: "Found at an auction."

At the same time, the timer is started.

The player begins pointing and naming any pictures of things that satisfy the search question ("Found at an auction", in this example). At the same time, everyone counts as you move from tile to tile pointing to the pictures. "Coins" "1", "Cars" "2", "Paintings" "3", etc.

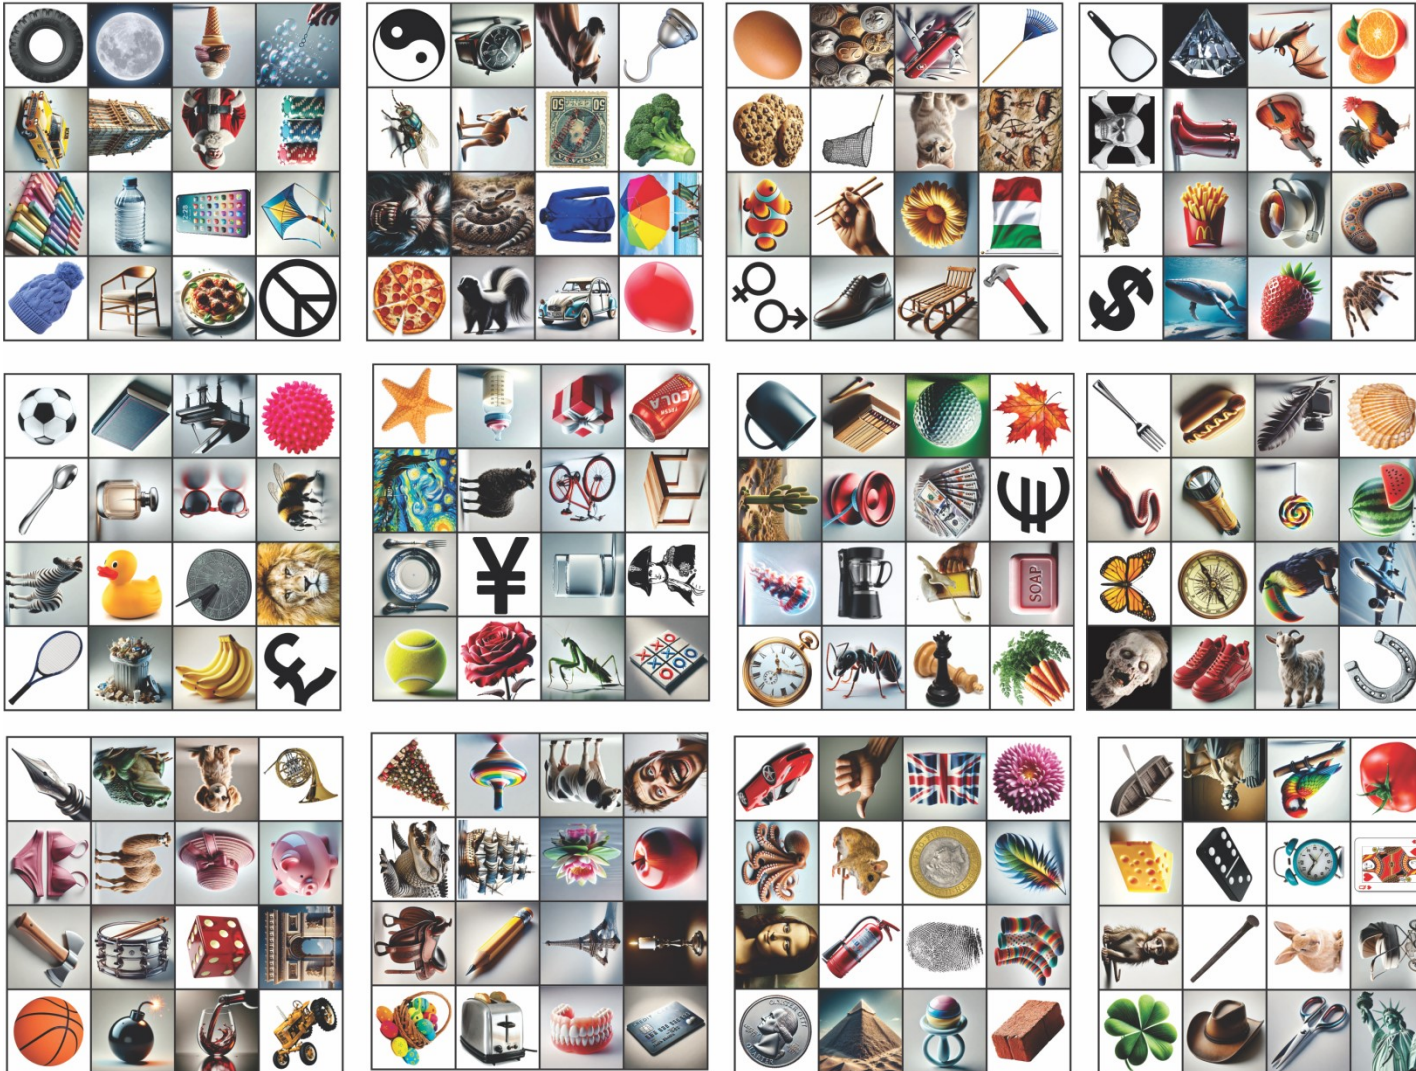

At any point, you can stop the timer. Your score is based on two things: the number of cards you found AND the number that's showing on the timer.

If 7 cards were found and the timer was stopped at 6, then the score would be  $7 \times 6 = 42$ .

Play continues for 3 rounds where everyone gets a chance to play.
On the 4th round, each player is asked to find just one picture by the player on their left, who gets to choose what they have to find.
How fast can you find the hammer?

The scores for each player are totaled, and the player with the highest score is the winner!
